David Dzombak is Hamerschlag University Professor Emeritus in the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at Carnegie Mellon. His professional focus is on water quality engineering, water resource sustainability, and energy-environment issues. At Carnegie Mellon he has served as Department Head for Civil and Environmental Engineering (2013-2022), Associate Dean for Graduate and Faculty Affairs for the College of Engineering (2006-2010), Director of the Steinbrenner Institute for Environmental Education and Research (2007-2013), and Interim Vice Provost of Sponsored Programs (November 2012-August 2013).

Dzombak received his Ph.D. in Civil Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1986. He also holds an M.S. in Civil Engineering (1981) and a B.S. in Civil Engineering (1980) from Carnegie Mellon, and a B.A. in Mathematics from Saint Vincent College (1980). He is a registered Professional Engineer in Pennsylvania, a Board Certified Environmental Engineer, a Board Certified Water Resources Engineer, and a member of the National Academy of Engineering.

Dzombak's research and professional interests include: aquatic chemistry; fate and transport of chemicals in water, soil, and sediment; water and wastewater treatment; in situ and ex situ soil and sediment treatment; industrial waste management; abandoned mine drainage remediation; climate change adaptation for infrastructure; water resource sustainability; energy and environment; and public communication of civil and environmental engineering. He has published numerous articles in leading environmental engineering and science journals; book chapters; articles for the popular press; and three books. He also has a wide range of consulting experience.

His professional service activity has included the National Academies Report Review Committee (2021-present); National Academies Roundtable on Science and Technology for Sustainability (2013-2021); National Academies Roundtable on Unconventional Hydrocarbon Development (2015-2019); National Academies Water Science and Technology Board (2014-2019); ASCE Industry Leaders Council (2020-2023); ASCE Civil Engineering Education Innovation Working Group (2022-present); the EPA Science Advisory Board (2002-2016); Editorial Advisory Board for Resources, Conservation & Recycling (2022-present); Editorial Advisory Board for ACS Sustainable Chemistry & Engineering (2012-2016); Associate Editor of Environmental Science & Technology (2005-2012); Chair, Board of Directors, AEESP Foundation (2012-2014); Board of Trustees, American Academy of Environmental Engineers and Scientists (2022-present); Board of Directors of the Association of Environmental Engineering and Science Professors (1996-1999); Board of Directors, ASCE Pittsburgh Section (2023-present); chair of committees for AAEEES, AEESP, ASCE, and Water Environment Federation; advisory committees for Allegheny County, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and numerous universities and organizations.

Dzombak was elected to the National Academy of Engineering in 2008. Other recognitions include Fellow status in AEESP (2013), WEF (2012), and ASCE (2002); an honorary Doctor of Science degree from Saint Vincent College (2010); Kappe Lecturer (2021) and Gordon Maskew Fair Award (2019) from AAEEES; Jack Edward McKee Medal (2000) and the Harrison Prescott Eddy Medal (1993) from WEF; Aldo Leopold Leadership Program Fellow (2000); Distinguished Lecturer Award (2011) and Distinguished Service Awards (1999,2015) from AEESP; Distinguished Member (2019), Simon W. Freese Environmental Engineering Award (2014), and the Walter L. Huber Civil Engineering Research Prize (1997) from ASCE; and NSF Presidential Young Investigator Award (1991).
