Cognitive Psychology Concentration

For Psychology majors who wish to have a focus of their study be on Cognitive Psychology and/or Cognitive Modeling, the following courses should be selected as part of their Psychology Major in conjunction with their Psychology advisor’s approval. Please return a copy to Emilie O’Leary in BH 339.

As part of the natural sciences requirement:
03-121 Modern Biology

As part of the psychology Breadth requirement:
85-211 Cognitive Psychology

As part of the psychology Research Methods requirement:
85-310 Research Methods in Cognitive Psychology

As part of the advanced coursework in psychology requirement, at least two of the following:
85-355 Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience
85-356 Music and Mind: The Cognitive Neuroscience of Sound
85-370 Perception
85-380 In Search of Mind: The History of Psychology
85-390 Human Memory
85-392 Human Expertise
85-395 Applications of Cognitive Science
85-406 Autism: Psychological and Neuroscience Perspectives
85-412 Cognitive Modeling
85-414 Cognitive Neuropsychology
85-419 Introduction to Parallel Distributed Processing
85-421 Language and Thought
85-426 Learning in Humans and Machines
85-429 Cognitive Brain Imaging

Name: ________________________________
Students
Signature: _____________________________
Advisors
Signature: _____________________________