Tutoring Resources

There are a variety of tutoring services available through Carnegie Mellon University resources, in addition to local and online options. While not an exhaustive list of options, this resource list includes programs designed to work with a variety of age groups, and includes both online and in-person options. If you are looking for more specialized tutoring services, or for more tutoring options near where you live, please contact the Family Care Concierge Specialists.

Carnegie Mellon Univerity Tutoring Resources

Care for Business: CMU faculty, staff, and graduate students have access to a premium Care.com membership through the Care for Business program. You can use Care for Business to search for tutors in your area. To search for a tutor using Care for Business, please use the following steps:

1. Create a Care for Business account using your AndrewID, or log into your existing account.
2. On the homepage, select "tutoring" from the menu bar at the top of the screen.
3. Enter your zip code and click "Search"
4. To filter tutors by subject area expertise or other qualifiers, such as language, use the filter options on the left side of the screen.

Local and Online Tutoring Resources

Carnegie Library Homework Help and Tutoring: The Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh offers both in-person and virtual tutoring options. In-person tutoring for children in grades K-8 is available at six library branches; no prior registration is required. Virtual reading and math focused tutoring options for grades K-5 are available on a first come, first served basis and registration is required. The library also has a partnership with Tutor.com that offers live homework help from noon until midnight every day for students in kindergarten through college. You will need a library card to access this service.

Duquesne University Reading Clinic: A non-profit educational service offered by the Duquesne University School of Education for students ages 6-16. Includes both Saturday morning and weeknight sessions.

Etutorworld: This service provides virtual tutoring sessions in addition to specialized worksheets and test prep packages. There are a variety of pricing models based on the services you choose.

Grade Potential Tutoring: This service matches you with a tutor in your area for in-home support. There are fees associated with this service.

Carnegie Mellon University
Human Resources

Gwen's Girls Academic Support Initiative: This is a free, virtual tutoring service available to students in the Pittsburgh area in grades K-12. It runs through the academic year. Group sessions and individual sessions are offered Monday through Friday.

Keftutoring: A private tutoring company stationed in Pittsburgh that provides one-on-one customized tutoring based on student and family needs, serving children in grades 3-12. Keftutoring is a fee based service.

Khan Academy: A nonprofit with the mission of providing free, world-class education for anyone, anywhere. These virtual courses can be self-led, or supported with the assistance of an adult.

Kumon: Offers in-person and virtual tutoring and supplemental academic support services for children ages three through high school.

Learn to Be: This nonprofit provides one-on-one, online tutoring with a "pay if you choose" model. Prior to receiving services, you need to complete an enrollment form.

Mathnasium: Mathnasium specializes in math support for students in grades PreK-12. They offer both in-person and virtual support. There are fees associated with this service.

Sylvan Learning: Provides tutoring and supplemental academic support for children grades K-12 in math, reading, writing, and STEM subjects. Also offers seasonal camps and specialized tutoring services in college and career readiness and test prep.

Urban Impact Foundation: Supports students in their academic endeavors, no matter the grade level. This program is free.