

Financial Aid Fall/Spring Study Abroad Consortium Agreement

Student's Name: _____ Student ID Number: _____

This agreement is entered into between:

Carnegie Mellon and _____ , herein known as the Host Institution, for the purpose of allowing matriculated students of Carnegie Mellon to Receive Title IV and Federal Direct Student Loan assistance based upon their enrollment at the Host School during the duration of this agreement. This agreement is effective from _____ to _____.

Carnegie Mellon, as the Home Institution, agrees to calculate and disburse financial aid for those students who are eligible, to include federal and/or state funds. Students are responsible for payment of all charges at the Host Institution. Funds will not be disbursed by Carnegie Mellon until all of the consortium conditions have been met. Payment of all financial aid funds will be made by crediting the student's Carnegie Mellon account.

Actual tuition, fees and other educational costs at the Host Institution will be used for determining the awards, and Carnegie Mellon will disburse these awards in the manner described above.

A student's eligibility for Title IV and Federal Direct Loan Assistance, as described in this Consortium Agreement, will be considered upon receipt of the Enrollment and Cost of Attendance Form (see next page) and the Study Abroad Transfer Credit Permission Form (provided by Carnegie Mellon's Office of International Education).

By agreeing to enter into this Consortium Agreement, the Host Institution confirms that it is eligible to participate in U.S. Federal Student Aid (FSA) programs. This agreement will commence and terminate as of the dates indicated above.

Enrollment and Cost of Attendance Form

A Financial Aid Consortium Agreement makes it possible for a matriculated student from Carnegie Mellon to attend another post-secondary institution for one or two semesters during an academic year and to receive Title IV and Federal Direct Student Loan funds during that period of enrollment.

To enter into a consortium agreement, the Host Institution must confirm that it is eligible to participate in U.S. Federal Student Aid (FSA) Programs. If the Host Institution is an ineligible institution, a contractual agreement is required. (Additional guidelines regarding ineligible institutions are available in The HUB).

Carnegie Mellon is considered the Home Institution because it will confer the student's degree. The other school of attendance is designated as the Host Institution. A valid consortium agreement requires the cooperation of Carnegie Mellon and the Host Institution in order for students to receive Title IV and Federal Direct Student Loan assistance determined and disbursed through Carnegie Mellon.

The following guidelines and conditions govern the use of this agreement and all of these conditions must be met before the disbursement of financial aid funds can be made:

1. The student applying for study at the Host Institution must complete all of the required applications and forms necessary to receive financial aid. This includes, but is not limited to, a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), CSS PROFILE, and Parent/s' and Student's completed income tax returns.
2. The student must obtain a letter from his/her department verifying that the units/credits will transfer toward his/her degree at Carnegie Mellon.
3. The student must forward to the Host Institution a copy of the Carnegie Mellon Financial Aid Consortium Agreement along with the Enrollment and Cost of Attendance Form. If the Host Institution agrees to enter into such an agreement, then its Financial Aid Office and Registrar must complete the applicable sections and return them to The HUB at Carnegie Mellon.
4. Carnegie Mellon cannot make disbursements to the student's university account until we receive the required paperwork for the student. This also assumes that the student has completed the appropriate forms to determine the student's eligibility for Title IV and Federal Direct Student Loan Assistance.
5. All of the forms required for a Financial Aid Consortium Agreement must be completed and on file in The HUB at Carnegie Mellon before the last day of the semester in which the student is studying. This day will be no later than the last day of the semester according to Carnegie Mellon's academic calendar. Consortium agreements completed after that date will not be eligible for payment to the student.
6. Under this consortium agreement, students will be eligible for state aid, Federal Pell Grants, Federal SEOG, Federal Perkins Loans, Federal Direct Student Loans and Federal Direct PLUS Loans.
7. The student is responsible for payment of all charges at the Host Institution since financial aid awarded to the student through Carnegie Mellon will not be disbursed unless all of the above conditions have been met.
8. If the Host Institution does not agree to enter into a Financial Aid Consortium Agreement with Carnegie Mellon, then the student will be ineligible for payment of financial aid funds for the courses taken at the Host Institution.
