

Carnegie Mellon

ENROLLMENT SERVICES

Student Fee Assessment Rules – 2008-2009

Undergraduate Degree-Seeking Students at Carnegie Mellon are assessed the following semester based fees:

- activity ($88, if units carried are greater than 18)
- health insurance (varies, subject to a hard waiver with University Health Services)
- media fee ($5)
- technology ($75)
- transportation ($39)

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date. Part-time (< 36 units) students can opt out of the health insurance by contacting University Health Services.

Undergraduate Degree-Seeking Students at Carnegie Mellon Qatar are assessed the following semester based fees:

- activity ($88, if units carried are greater than 18)
- technology ($75)

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date.

Non-Degree-Seeking Students at Carnegie Mellon are assessed the following semester based fees:

- activity ($88, if units carried are greater than 18)
- technology ($75)

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date. These students are NOT to be assessed the health insurance fee. They may opt into student health insurance by contacting University Health Services. These students are not eligible for the media or transportation fees (or participation in these programs).

Graduate Degree-Seeking (in full-time programs) Students at Carnegie Mellon are assessed the following semester based fees:

- activity ($88, if units carried are greater than 18)
- health insurance (varies, subject to a hard waiver with University Health Services)
- technology ($75)
- transportation ($39)

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date. Part-time (< 36 units) students can opt out of the health insurance by contacting University Health Services.

Graduate Degree-Seeking (in part-time programs) Students at Carnegie Mellon are assessed the following semester based fees:

- activity ($88, if units carried are greater than 18)
- technology ($75)
- transportation ($39)

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date. These students are NOT to be assessed the health insurance fee. They may opt into student health insurance by contacting University Health Services.

Graduate Degree-Seeking Students at New York City, Portugal, West Coast, ETC Australia, Heinz Australia, Athens, Japan, etc. are assessed the following semester based fees:

- technology ($75)*

* Students at the Heinz-Australia and the ETC-Australia locations are not assessed the technology fee.

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date. These students are NOT to be assessed the health insurance fee. They may opt into student health insurance by contacting University Health Services. Students at other campuses/locations are not to be assessed the health insurance fee, unless they are coming to Pittsburgh for a semester.

* Students at the New York City location are to be assessed the health insurance fee per the program request.

Carnegie Mellon INCOMING Exchange/Study Abroad Students are assessed the following semester based fees:

- activity ($88, if units carried are greater than 18)
- health insurance (varies, subject to a hard waiver with University Health Services)
- media fee ($5, if considered an undergraduate)
- technology ($75)
- transportation ($39)

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date.

Carnegie Mellon OUTGOING Exchange/Study Abroad Students are assessed the following semester based fees:

- technology ($75)

Their student account will be assessed a late payment fee ($150) if not settled by the semester payment date. These students are NOT to be assessed the health insurance fee. They may opt into student health insurance by contacting University Health Services. These students are NOT to be assessed the media, activity or transportation fees since they are not in Pittsburgh.

Staff & Faculty

Staff and faculty who are also students are excluded from the activity, media, technology, health insurance and transportation student fees.

Summer Enrollment

Students who enrolled in the summer are not assessed any fees. These students are NOT to be assessed the health insurance fee, but may opt into student health insurance by contacting University Health Services.

Fee Adjustment

Students who withdraw (or finish early) in a semester will not have their fees adjusted. Students are responsible for the entire amount of the activity, media, technology, and transportation fees. Health insurance may be pro-rated by contacting University Health Services.