Fischhoff Elected to National Academy of Sciences

Baruch Fischhoff, a renowned expert in decision science and risk analysis, has been elected to the National Academy of Sciences, one of the highest honors a scientist can receive for distinguished and continuing achievements in original research.
Three CMU Drama Alumni Nominated for Tony Awards

Deneé Benton, Christian Borle and Josh Groban each have a chance to win a Tony Award for their leading performances on Broadway.

Women Supporting Women

The Carnegie Mellon Women's Association (CMWA) presented seven graduating CMU students with a $1,000 scholarship for their commitment to the advancement of women in their academic disciplines.
Meeting of the Minds Explores Students’ Passion for Research

A sound reactive robotic skirt will be one of hundreds of student research projects on display at the university-wide celebration of undergraduate research, May 10.

Born To Be Wild

Wildlife worldwide has a friend in alumnus Stephen Fairchild, who has advanced conservationism through an award-winning documentary film career.
Ed Wojciechowski has manufactured a career that suits him to a tee.

Calendar Highlights

TODAY
* Adamson Student Writing Awards
* May 5
* Concert: Carnegie Mellon Philharmonic
* Making Education Relevant for Students: The Case of Uruguay
* May 9
  * The Power of Feedback: Creating a Feedback Loop
* May 10
  * Meeting of the Minds Undergraduate Research Symposium
* May 11
  * CMU's Bike to Campus Day
  * Process Documentation: Put Your Plans to Work
  * Roundtable: New Supervisors
* May 12
  * Alexa Day
* May 19
  * Alumni Awards
* May 20-21
  * Commencement Weekend
  * Professional Development Workshop

Personal Mentions
David Danks has won an Andrew Carnegie fellowship.

Madelyn Miller will retire from the university, effective Dec. 31. Succeeding her on an interim basis will be Melanie Lucht.

Edward Kennedy has won the American Statistical Association’s David P. Byar Young Investigator Award.

Kiron Skinner wrote a chapter on President Ronald Reagan for a new book that explores scandal, death and illness in the White House.

News Briefs

- WATCH: CMU-Qatar Graduation Ceremony
- Join the Alumni Association for Pirates Baseball
- May 7 Concert in Memory of Robert Page
- Join the Plaid Dog Divers in the Florida Keys
- Steeler, Tepper Student Urges Tartans To Reach Potential
- PSC Makes Bridges Available to CMU, Pitt Faculty Free of Charge
- Preview a Fun Summer Workshop for Kids
- "Roll Call" Opens Tomorrow
- Nominations Open for University Libraries Excellence Awards

See something? Say something. Help ensure the safety and well-being of the CMU community by calling:

University Police: 412-268-2323
Ethics Hotline: 1-877-700-7050