Strategic Plan Focus Area #3: The Transformative CMU Experience

Ramayya Krishnan, Dean of the Heinz College
Michael Murphy, Vice President for Campus Affairs
Framing Construct & Key Questions

• What are the core values that drive the unique CMU Way?
  ➢ What are the core outcomes for Students?
  ➢ What are the core outcomes for Staff?
  ➢ What are the core outcomes for Faculty?
  ➢ What are the core outcomes for Alumni & Parents?

• What are the enablers/barriers, strategies, tactics and action items to these ends?
Framing Construct & Key Questions

• We have identified four cross-cutting domains for our key outcomes:
  ✓ Intellectual & Artistic
  ✓ Professional Development
  ✓ Personal Development
  ✓ Communal, Organizational, Societal & Global Citizenship Development
What are the various dimensions of diversity that we should be prioritizing, and what concrete actions to increase diversity should be included in the strategic plan?
Professional Development

What facets of professional development can be emphasized and augmented to position our students, staff and faculty for success and continual professional fulfillment?

What does ideal lifelong learning look like for Carnegie Mellon alumni, parents, and community members?
Common Experience(s)

As we contemplate a transformative experience at Carnegie Mellon, is there a common experience(s) that all students should be required to complete that could integrate their development in the artistic and intellectual, personal, professional, and citizenship domains? How might this involve faculty, staff and alumni, resulting in (a) common community-wide experience(s)?
A number of peer institutions have implemented an intersession period for student exploration, experimentation and immersion. What would be the most exciting aspects—or any concerns—of this approach?
Major Vision

Is there any consensus around one major vision or goal for faculty that should be included in the strategic plan?
