CONTENTS

Description ......................................................... 3
Goals ................................................................. 3
General Requirements and Grading ......................... 4
Note to ESL Students ............................................. 4
Timelines and Deadlines .......................................... 5
Collaborative Piano, Instrumental Performance,
  Piano Performance, Vocal Performance Requirements . . . 6
Composition Majors Requirements ............................. 8
Master of Music in Music Education ......................... 9
Master of Science in Music and Technology .............. 10

Appendix

Grading Rubric ..................................................... 11
Graduate Comprehensive Project
Student Information Sheet ...................................... 12
Plagiarism Pledge .................................................. 13
DESCRIPTION

The Graduate Comprehensive Project serves as a capstone review to the master's degree curriculum in which the student analyzes, researches, and writes about the music to be performed on their final graduate recital.

The Graduate Comprehensive requirements ask students to: think analytically about specific repertoire; make informed, interpretive choices about their composition/performance practice with the piece; and communicate their findings to a wider audience. These skills are paramount to a multitude of career paths in and around music. The graduate comprehensive requirements help prepare graduate students not only to pursue self-guided discovery with new repertories, but also to write cogently about their work — applicable for concert programming and when applying for fellowships, grant funding, and many other activities directly relevant to our work as professional musicians.

The National Association of Schools of Music, the accrediting agency for Carnegie Mellon's School of Music, mandates that candidates for the master's degree in Music successfully pass a comprehensive review as an exit requirement for the granting of the degree. In keeping with this requirement, the graduate faculty of the CMU School of Music have designed a final project that meets this objective while maintaining a strong relevance to each student's major area of study.

The project is an integral part of the preparation for performance and composition students' graduate student recital. This project is to be pursued independently by each student in consultation with an assigned faculty Analysis Advisor and Program Note Advisor. The curriculum and related faculty provide the means for your successful completion of this project throughout your graduate program.

These means include:

A. Music Research Methods (required course)
B. Graduate Review Courses of music theory and music history
C. Coursework that reinforces analysis and writing about music
D. Annual Graduate Forum presentations on plagiarism, program notes and analysis
E. Access to University Resources, such as the Student Academic Success Center or students who seek assistance with their writing
F. Consultation at any time for any part of the project

GOALS

The purpose of the Graduate Comprehensive Project is to provide a forum in which students finishing their master's degree can demonstrate mastery in the scholarship of music developed throughout the master's program. Mastery in scholarship is defined as the ability to independently research analyze and write about music at a high level, as demonstrated by the analysis, analytical paper, research paper, and/or researched program notes with bibliography.
GENERAL REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING

Students must submit their projects according to the requirements and timelines listed in this document. Grading for each part of the project is Pass (P)/No Pass (N). At the discretion of the faculty, and with the timeline for graduation in mind, any part of the project that received a No Pass (N) may be revised until passed.

Please see the Grading Rubric in the Appendix. Students must pass all parts of the rubric in order to pass the Program Note portion of the project.

The master's degree will not be granted to anyone who fails to successfully complete both of their graduate comprehensives by the required deadlines. If either of the projects are delayed beyond the deadlines, final certification of the master's degree will be reassigned to a following semester pending final approval from the comps advisors — see Timeline and Deadlines.

NOTE TO ESL STUDENTS

Students with limited abilities in English are strongly encouraged to make full use of the University's resources for improved writing.

Standards for writing style may be slightly adjusted for each ESL student's ability. ESL students are strongly encouraged to arrange for a language support advisor at the Student Academic Success Center www.cmu.edu/student-success/ to carefully proofread their work before submitting it.
TIMELINES AND DEADLINES

For Graduation in May

| Mid-October (of second year) | Comprehensive Project is reviewed in Graduate Forum
Advisors are announced |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>December 1</td>
<td>Student Information Sheet and Plagiarism Pledge Submitted</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| February 15                 | Comprehensives Submitted to assigned Analysis and Program Note Advisors
by email or on Canvas as per the instruction of the advisors. |
| March 8                     | Advisors respond with revisions (if needed)                      |
| March 31                    | Revisions submitted (if needed)                                  |
| April 15                    | Faculty submit final grades to the Director of Graduate Studies  |

For Graduation in August

| Mid-October (of second year) | Comprehensive Project is reviewed in Graduate Forum
Advisors are announced |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>March 15</td>
<td>Student Information Sheet and Plagiarism Pledge Submitted</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| May 31                      | Comprehensives Submitted to assigned Analysis and Program Note Advisors
by email or on Canvas as per the instruction of the advisors. |
| June 15                     | Advisors respond with revisions (if needed)                      |
| July 1                      | Revisions submitted (if needed)                                  |
| July 15                     | Faculty submit final grades to the Director of Graduate Studies  |

For Graduation in December

| Mid-October (of second year) | Comprehensive Project is reviewed in Graduate Forum
Advisors are announced |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>June 30</td>
<td>Student Information Sheet and Plagiarism Pledge Submitted</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| September 15                | Comprehensives Submitted to assigned Analysis and Program Note Advisors
by email or on Canvas as per the instruction of the advisors. |
| October 1                   | Advisors respond with revisions (if needed)                      |
| October 15                  | Revisions submitted (if needed)                                  |
| November 1                  | Faculty submit final grades to the Director of Graduate Studies  |
COLLABORATIVE PIANO, INSTRUMENTAL PERFORMANCE, PIANO PERFORMANCE, VOCAL PERFORMANCE REQUIREMENTS

Analysis

Instrumental Performance, Piano Performance, and Vocal Performance majors must analyze an entire movement or complete song of at least 64 measures selected from the final recital program, approved by the theory faculty. Collaborative piano majors will analyze one art song and one movement of a chamber piece from the final recital, approved by the theory faculty.

A. Students are not permitted to use a movement of a piece they have already analyzed for another class or independent study. Students may use a different movement from that piece.

B. Students are free to complete this requirement using whatever analytical techniques are appropriate for the piece selected. The analysis should include the formal structure, and both melodic and harmonic approaches.

C. A research paper must accompany the analysis. The minimum word count is 750. It must refer to the analysis and explain it. Include examples which clarify the analysis or refer to measure numbers of the analyzed piece. Apply what you have learned through the analysis to how you might perform this composition. In other words. How does the intimate knowledge of the formal, harmonic, and melodic content of this work influence your interpretive decisions?

Analysis paper

The paper must be in Chicago Manual Style and include:

A. Title Page with your name and date of submission

B. Material from an outside source (book, journal, liner notes, internet site, etc.) should be considered as a quotation, marked by quotation marks, and footnoted.

C. Footnotes can be located either at the bottom of the page or at the end of the paper.

D. Bibliography citing your sources. For further details on formatting, consult the Chicago Manual Style guides.library.cmu.edu/music/Chicago

The analytical conclusions, as well as the analyses themselves, must be the sole work of the graduate student. Any observations derived from researching other people's writings on the composer must be clearly cited and should not form the primary focus of the paper.
Program Notes

Graduate Student must conduct research and prepare program notes for compositions on the final recital. Notes should be usable for a recital program and written for the non-specialist general audience member. The minimum word count for your program notes (all works) is 750, exclusive of text translations. You do not have to write about every piece in your recital, especially if you are performing several short pieces, many of them by composers about whom little has been written. Rather than write on every piece, choose between three to five works by different composers from your recital program, selecting works that you can research rather than ones about which you will have little to say.

A. Research the composer and piece. Quote authorities and historical figures. Your notes must show substantial research – that's what makes it worth reading. Choose your sources carefully; poor sources may necessitate revision.

B. Cite your sources and attach a list of works cited. Your notes are expected to be written by you as the expert, based on your research, and the words should be yours alone (except quotations). Cite your sources according to the Chicago Manual Style guides.library.cmu.edu/music/Chicago

C. Engage the reader with vivid prose and solid research. A program note provides a lively introduction to the composer and the music by providing interesting historical, musical, and dramatic highlights, and possibly venturing a thoughtful interpretation of the music. Avoid unnecessary biography of the composer and description of the music. Do not imitate the tone of a dictionary; boring or poorly written program notes will require revision.

The structure addresses three parts seamlessly:

1. Provide a brief biographical sketch of the composer, tying biography to the music. Include only biographical events of great interest or that are relevant to the piece. The more famous the composer, the less biography is necessary. Explain how the piece came to be written and answer any obvious questions suggested by the title.

2. Provide a context for the work in the composer's career or among the works of contemporaries. Be willing to interpret the work in narrative, analytical, or other contexts. For example, Dvorak's “New World” Symphony can be discussed in terms of American music, Czech themes, pastoral qualities, its place in the symphonic tradition, etc. Here you can be thoughtful and creative.

3. Provide a little description of the music, but not too much. Avoid a purely descriptive account of each musical event. Focus on mood and emotional atmosphere and avoid technical language. Discuss only musical events which are of exceptional structural, narrative, or stylistic significance. Do not spend more than 1/3 of the note on description.

D. Submit the program notes by email or on Canvas as per the instruction of your advisor. Label the document clearly at the top of the page with your name, date and the words “Graduate Comprehensive Project Program Notes”.

E. Tips on writing successful program notes.

1. Follow these suggestions. The note should be gracefully written, not overly formal or chatty. Unify the note around one topic and ensure good transitions at all levels. Follow conventions of popular, rather than academic, writing. Write with passion and creativity, using the active voice, and offering a well-informed interpretation of the music. Write clearly, trim unnecessary words, make your grammar and mechanics immaculate. Format titles, dates, numerals, etc. with consistency. Polish and proofread. Refer to your class notes from Music Research Methods.

2. Avoid these problems. Avoid cliches such as “Mozart was born in Salzburg in 1756” and superlatives such as “Beethoven was one of the greatest composers of all time.” Revise phrases such as “As you know...” or “As is well known...” Steer clear of performance-oriented issues (of bowing techniques, etc.) unless the piece clearly focuses on such sounds.
COMPOSITION MAJORS REQUIREMENTS

Analysis
Composition majors must provide a detailed analysis of a major 20th – 21st century work, approved by the theory faculty.

A. Choose a single work for both your analysis and research paper. The work must be at least 64 measures long and analyzed in its entirety. You are not permitted to use a piece you have already analyzed for another class or independent study as that would be counting the same work twice.

B. Your analysis should address formal, linear, and vertical aspects of the piece.

Research Paper
After completing the analysis, students must write a research paper describing important analytical observations about the piece and the composer’s language.

A. The minimum word count is 750. It should briefly provide a context for the composer’s overall work and then a context for the work chosen within the composer’s other works. It must refer to the analysis and explain it. Include examples that clarify the analysis or refer to measure numbers of the analyzed piece. For examples of analytical research papers, see the following journals, available in Hunt Library: 19th Century Music and Perspectives in New Music.

B. The Research Paper must be in the Chicago Manual Style and include:
   1. Title page with your name and date of submission
   2. Material from an outside source (book, journal, liner notes, internet site, etc.) should be considered as a quotation, marked in quotation marks, and footnoted.
   3. Footnotes can be located either at the bottom of the page or at the end of the paper.
   4. Annotated bibliography citing your sources. An annotated bibliography is more than a listing; it also includes a brief summary of the contents and importance of each source cited. For further details on formatting, consult the Chicago Manual Style; see guides.library.cmu.edu/music/Chicago
   5. The analytical conclusions, as well as the analyses themselves, must be the sole work of the graduate student. Any observations derived from researching other people’s writing on the composer must be clearly cited and should not form the primary focus of the paper.
MASTER OF MUSIC IN MUSIC EDUCATION

All candidates for the Master of Music in Music Education degree must also pass a comprehensive review in their major area. Successful completion of this review is a requirement for graduation. The comprehensive review for Music Education consists of both a written examination and an oral examination covering all Music Education coursework. Dr. Susan Raponi is the comprehensive review advisor for all Music Education majors. Please consult with her for the specific guidelines for completion of the comprehensive review.
Master of Science in Music and Technology

In place of a recital-based comprehensive project, Music and Technology students will develop a thesis over the two years of their MS study. The following is the timeline for the Master of Science in Music and Technology student course work and thesis.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>First Semester</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Early August</td>
<td>Select and register courses</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Second Semester</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Due April 30</td>
<td>Thesis topic decided. Write a one-page description of your topic. Choose thesis committee. The thesis committee should consist of at least two people: your advisor and one other member of the Carnegie Mellon faculty or staff. To select the second member of your committee, you should first consult your advisor and get approval of one or more candidates. Then, you should ask the candidate to be on your committee.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Third Semester</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Early August</td>
<td>Select and register courses. Remember to sign up for reading and research to allow time for your thesis project.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Summer and early September</th>
<th>Prepare a thesis proposal of about 2 pages. The proposal should include:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Introduction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Review of the state of the art and related work</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• What knowledge and/or science is missing?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• What will you do?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• How will you evaluate your work?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• What are the criteria for successful completion?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Due September 30           | Oral thesis proposal given in Music and Technology Seminar. The committee in consultation with other faculty will decide to pass or fail the thesis proposal. If the proposal is not passed, the student must address the problems and present another proposal. |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Fourth Semester</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>January 1</td>
<td>Start (or continue) writing thesis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Due March 1</td>
<td>Finish thesis project</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Due March 15</td>
<td>Completed thesis delivered to advisor</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 25</td>
<td>Make final revisions to thesis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Due April 1</td>
<td>Final thesis draft to committee</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 1 - May 1</td>
<td>Further editing and committee approval of changes.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| May 1                      | • Master’s defense should be complete by this date. A defense consists of a master’s oral presentation and a master’s recital. |
|                            | • The Master’s oral presentation is a technical talk similar to a conference presentation. The talk should be carefully prepared and supported by slides with appropriate graphs and equations. If possible, the talk should include sound and/or video examples. |
|                            | • The Master’s recital should ideally be a concert or recital, possibly a joint recital or even one piece on a longer program. Alternatively, the oral presentation and recital can be combined. The music should be professional in quality and relate to the thesis. The Master’s candidate need not be the performer or composer provided that the thesis results are used in the music composition or performance. |
|                            | • A more technical thesis may not result in music appropriate for a concert. Although a music performance in a recital is the ideal, the recital requirement can be satisfied by a musical demonstration given as part of the oral presentation with the approval of the thesis committee. |
|                            | • The committee can either pass or fail the thesis oral presentation and recital. The committee can also request further changes in the thesis. |
GRADING RUBRIC

Program Note & Bibliography

You must pass all components of the rubric in order to pass the program note portion of your comprehensive project.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component</th>
<th>Pass</th>
<th>Fail</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Page 1</td>
<td>Includes student’s name</td>
<td>Missing student’s name</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Piece selection</td>
<td>Includes three to five pieces, each by a different composer</td>
<td>Includes fewer than three pieces and/or by fewer than three composers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Heading for each piece</td>
<td>Includes title (including opus numbers), composer, and date of piece</td>
<td>Is missing any or all of these elements.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Length</td>
<td>The total word count for all pieces reaches the 750 word minimum (approx. 250 words/each). Does not exceed 1200 words (approx. 400 words/each).</td>
<td>Below 750 words or over 1200 words.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bibliography Formatting</td>
<td>Has the heading Bibliography centered at the top of the page. Sources are arranged alphabetically and follow Chicago style.</td>
<td>Issues with heading placement, alphabetizing entries, or formatting, including using a different style.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Source selection</td>
<td>Includes only the most applicable scholarly sources available through CMU Libraries. Includes the Grove Music Online article on the composer (if available). Includes 2-3 additional books or journal articles for each piece.</td>
<td>Some sources are not scholarly when scholarly sources are available. Offtopic sources used instead of more applicable sources. Does not cite Grove Music Online articles on the topic. Insufficient number of scholarly sources used for each piece.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writing</td>
<td>Very few grammatical errors. Sentences are complete and easy to understand. Overall, coherent and correct.</td>
<td>It might be readable, but there are many grammatical errors. Demonstrates a lack of careful editing.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Content</td>
<td>Balances composer biography, work history, context, and description of the music. Well researched and interesting. Optional: include a couple of compelling quotations (no more than one per piece).</td>
<td>Issues with balance (e.g., too much biography) and relevancy (e.g., focus on childhood for a piece written near the end of the composer’s life). Boring for the reader.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tone</td>
<td>Written for a general audience by avoiding technical language when providing specific information. The tone isn't too informal.</td>
<td>The writing is too technical, formal, vague, and/or informal.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GRADUATE COMPREHENSIVE PROJECT
STUDENT INFORMATION SHEET

 Sign and submit one copy of this form to the assigned Analysis Advisor and one copy to the assigned Program Note Advisor by the deadline (see timetables on pages 4-5 of the Guide to the Graduate Comprehensive Project)

NAME: _________________________________________________________________________________________________

SIGNED: _______________________________________________________________________________________________

DATE: __________________________________________________________________________________________________

Collaborative Piano, Instrumental and Vocal Performance

Performance: __________________________________________________________________________________________

Date of Recital: ________________________________________________________________________________________

Work(s) to be Analyzed: (composer, title, opus number, and movement to be analyzed)

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

Work(s) to be researched for program notes:

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

Composition

20th or 21st -century work to be analyzed and researched for paper: (composer and title)

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________

_________________________________________________________________________________________________________
PLAGIARISM PLEDGE

 Initial, Sign and submit one copy of the Plagiarism Pledge through CANVAS to the Director of Graduate Studies by the deadline (see timetables on pages 4-5 of the Guide to the Graduate Comprehensive project) ***

• I hereby pledge not to plagiarize any part of my Graduate Comprehensive Project.
  ________ (initials)

• I understand plagiarism is a form of cheating.
  ________ (initials)

• I understand that plagiarism is defined as the use of work or concepts contributed by other individuals without proper attribution or citation. Unique ideas or materials taken from another source for either written or oral use must be fully acknowledged in academic work to be graded.
  ________ (initials)

• I understand that plagiarism can occur when cutting and pasting from a web resource directly into a document without providing quotation marks and proper citation of the source.
  ________ (initials)

• I understand that original work is required of the Graduate Comprehensive Project.
  ________ (initials)

• I will show good faith in avoiding plagiarism by documenting my sources and consulting with faculty when I am unsure about what requires documentation.
  ________ (initials)

• I understand that the penalty for committing plagiarism may include ejection from the University and the withholding of degree. See the Carnegie Mellon University Policy on Academic Integrity at www.cmu.edu/policies/student-and-student-life/academic-integrity.html.
  ________ (initials)

Name: _________________________________________________________________________________________________

Date: __________________________________________________________________________________________________

Signed: ________________________________________________________________________________________________