DOING TRANSNATIONAL JUSTICE: LESSONS FROM INCARCERATION NATIONS NETWORK

Baz Dreisinger, *Professor of English, John Jay College, City University of New York

What does it mean to work for prison reform and justice in the US and the world? Baz Dreisinger takes us on a border-crossing journey, discussing the Prison-to-College Pipeline program she founded in New York, her book Incarceration Nations: A Journey to Justice in Prisons Around the World, and the global organization, Incarceration Nations Network, that grew out of it.
