My Summer in Rabat, Morocco

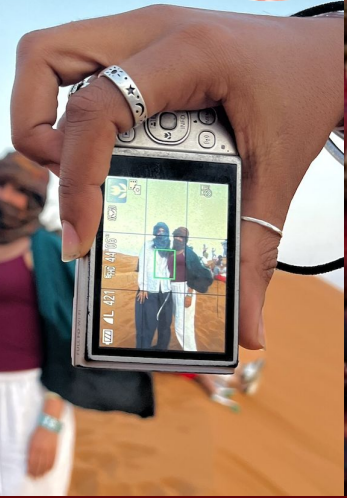

Over the summer, I had the opportunity to study Arabic in the Moroccan capital Rabat through CIEE. Alongside my Arabic studies, I was introduced to Moroccan language and culture through both formal and informal programming.

Academic Impact

Through 15 hrs a week of Arabic courses, I progressed from a lower intermediate to advanced level. I also grew confidence conversationally. With an average student to faculty ratio of 2:1, my program felt incredibly personal. I am so grateful for this unparalleled academic opportunity made possible through the Jennings Award.
