Dear Faculty:

This student requests your support in his or her bid for Carnegie Mellon’s nomination to the Rhodes, Marshall, Churchill, and/or Gates Cambridge Scholarship. To compete for these rigorous programs, your student requires an exceptionally strong letter. If you do not believe you can provide a detailed and enthusiastic letter, please decline to write; the student will be best served by the chance to seek another letter.

Your draft letter is due to Fellowships and Scholarships Office (FSO) by June 14, 2019 (please contact FSO if you have problems meeting this deadline). Letters may be submitted via email to the FSO at fso-general@andrew.cmu.edu or send hardcopy letters to: FSO, Warner Hall 530F. Your letter will be reviewed by the members of the Carnegie Mellon UK Awards Nomination Committee, which consists of faculty and administrators from across the university, and the FSO staff.

Please provide ample detail and evidence of the following information in your letter:

- familiarity with the candidate (i.e. nature and duration of your relationship)
- his/her current and past accomplishments
- his/her leadership potential (especially for distinction in chosen field & profession)
- a comparison of the student to her/his peers (i.e. top x% or other description)
- his/her preparation for research or study while abroad
- his/her ability to carry out the proposed research or study while abroad
- how such plans fit into the candidate’s long range career goals
- why you believe that she/he merits strong consideration by the nomination committee
- don’t be afraid to be enthusiastic if this is a terrific student

If your student receives Carnegie Mellon’s endorsement, you will be asked to update and resubmit your letter to the appropriate national competition. Final letters will be due in the fall (deadlines vary by scholarship). Your student will contact you with follow-up instructions for the specific award(s) they are applying to.
