STAFF LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT COURSES AND PROGRAMS

The Office of Human Resources (OHR) is pleased to offer a variety of courses and training programs to faculty and staff to help facilitate growth and development opportunities for all employees.

This training catalog serves to inform CMU employees of some of the ever-expanding development opportunities that are available to assist with skills development and career growth in the present and into the future.

OHR’s Learning and Development team offers a mix of training programs that covers human resource systems and processes, items related to compliance, as well as programs designed to help employees develop skills to enhance job performance and become better managers and supervisors.

A variety of training formats are typically available to provide flexibility to suit learning preferences and schedules of individuals; however, the current pandemic has required recent training sessions to adapt to a virtual format. The course and program descriptions provide highlights and use icons to quickly allow you to see the delivery format and/or the campus location where they are offered.

Registration for many courses and classes is available via FocusU, CMU’s employee training portal, while others require a nomination process. For more about the training and offerings, please contact the OHR Learning and Development team at professionaldevelopment@andrew.cmu.edu.

PREVENTING WORKPLACE HARASSMENT
Carnegie Mellon is committed to providing a respectful and motivating environment, free from discrimination and harassment. Our online Preventing Workplace Harassment course will help you understand:
- What constitutes harassment
- How to avoid engaging in behavior that could be considered harassing
- What to do if you witness or experience harassment
New employees are expected to complete the course within the first 30 days at Carnegie Mellon. The course will take approximately 2 hours to complete.

DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION FOCUSED COURSES AND PROGRAMS

LEAN SIX SIGMA
Lean Six Sigma is the Green Belt Process Improvement Program. This nomination-based program is designed to teach administrative teams about a data-driven approach to process improvement through real-time completion of projects. The Lean Six Sigma program consists of two separate week-long training sessions, team project work, team presentations, and coaching from our Lean Six Sigma consultant. The total time commitment is approximately 136 hours over the course of eight months (17 hours per month). Upon successful completion of the program, cohort members are provided with information and support for how to become certified through the International Association of Lean Six Sigma Certification (IASSC). Candidates are encouraged to take the certification exam to receive universal Lean Six Sigma Green Belt Certification.

STAFF SUPERVISORY AWARENESS PROGRAM
Over the course of eight distinct modules, the Staff Supervisory Awareness Program explores the fundamental tools and resources needed to effectively and successfully lead and supervise others. The program is structured in a blended format where participants complete parts of the training via live sessions and others through self-paced exercises. The course content encompasses a broad range of core human resources’ knowledge critical to your success as a supervisor. Participants are introduced to information that builds a foundation to become better leaders. Participants will also learn how to improve diversity, equity and inclusion into their day-to-day activities as a supervisor at CMU. Ultimately, participants will be enabled with the information and skills to help them as supervisors to facilitate a work environment in which employees are treated with dignity and respect.

EVERFI DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND CIVILITY TRAINING
Diversity in the modern workplace can be challenging. To help broaden your understanding and awareness, we invite all CMU employees to take time to complete two, on-demand courses available in FocusU. We are confident that everyone who views these engaging presentations will walk away with a better self-understanding and will be better equipped to apply this information in their personal work environment.
- Managing Bias (20 minutes) - Identify and reduce the negative effects of bias in the workplace.
- Diversity: Inclusion in the Workplace (60 minutes) - Explore the benefits of diversity in the workplace and provide practical strategies for workplace inclusion.

COMMITTING TO DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION
The need for diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) on our campuses has never been more self-evident. “Social justice” is no longer just a rallying cry; instead, it’s one of the crucial measures by which an institution is judged. These courses seek to encourage dialogue and understanding between different races, religions, ages, gender identities, and people with disabilities.
- Faculty and Staff (25 minutes)
- Supervisors (25 minutes)

GREEN DOT
The Green Dot program was conceived on a college campus to prevent dating violence, sexual violence and stalking. It relies on the premise that if every member of the campus community - students, staff, administrators and faculty - does their small part, the combined effect is a culture that is safe and intolerant of violence. Green Dot training demonstrates how everyone can combat negative behavior through bystander engagement. Learn more and access videos and training information on University Health Services’ Green Dot page.
STAFF LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT COURSES AND PROGRAMS

CMULEAD
As Carnegie Mellon University continues to be one of the world’s leading research universities, a commitment to our staff members’ professional development becomes ever more important. The CMULEAD program aims to prepare our talented and dedicated staff to take on leadership roles.

The program aims include:
• Developing fundamental and inclusive leadership skills including how to motivate and inspire others while fostering an inclusive, equitable and diverse environment for all staff to thrive
• Learning and demonstrating key leadership abilities related to team building, coaching, collaborating, improving processes and leading strategically
• Understanding the strategic and operational aspects of CMU
• Demonstrating effective communication, problem solving, conflict resolution, negotiation and presentation skills

To learn more about this nomination-based program, please visit the CMULEAD program page.

COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP COURSE FOR VETERANS
Offered through a partnership with Leadership Pittsburgh, the Community Leadership Course for Veterans™ (CLCV™) initiative aims to leverage the skills and experiences of post-9/11 veterans for the betterment of the broader Pittsburgh region. CLCV™ is a newer offering of this 36-year-old organization which is recognized as the premier source for identification and connection of leaders across sectors with issues, each other, and with community needs/opportunities.

Through participation in the six-month course, CLCV™ cohort members have the opportunity to develop a greater understanding of our region, meet with business and community leaders, as well as utilize their leadership skills to accomplish a community impact project in partnership with a local nonprofit organization. This course provides participants with the exposure, experiences and connections that prepare them to tackle the challenges of our community. Bi-weekly sessions cover topics such as corporate landscape, nonprofit landscape, history of Pittsburgh, savvy networking and more. To learn more about the nomination-based program, please visit the Leadership Pittsburgh website.

LEADERSHIP PITTSBURGH
Offered through a partnership with Leadership Pittsburgh, this namesake program is an eight-month program for established senior-level leaders. Content area experts from this namesake program is an eight-month program for established senior-level leaders. Content area experts from the community serve as faculty to build the capacity of program participants who are leading this community now and will effect change in our region in the coming years. It not only engages and informs the senior leadership of our region’s companies but also creates meaningful bonds with others of their levels and from diverse backgrounds.

To learn more about the nomination-based program, please visit the LeadershipPittsburgh website or the internal program page.

STAFF DEVELOPMENT RESOURCES

OHR LEADERSHIP ACADEMIES
In collaboration with Tepper Executive Education, the Carnegie Mellon University Human Resources Leadership Academies are designed to enrich the leadership skills and networks for high-potential emerging or existing leaders.

Each Academy provides the tools, exposure and training necessary to increase the visibility and success of high-performing leaders within the university.

The programs are open to all faculty and staff regardless of gender, race or other demographic characteristics. Participants are selected by college and division leadership. When considering whom to select to participate, leadership should identify high-potential employees who have growth potential and would benefit from training in cultivation of diverse and inclusive leaders.
• Strategies for Advancing Women in Organizations will help craft your leadership brand for both individual and organizational success while leveraging the unique strengths and addressing the challenges specific to women seeking advancement opportunities in higher education. This program will provide you with the tools for effective negotiation to hurdle obstacles, secure necessary resources and further your upward trajectory.
• Strategies for Advancing Underrepresented Minorities in Organizations addresses the 360-degree development of participants, with a particular emphasis on the unique challenges faced by underrepresented minority professionals.

STAFF SUPERVISORY AWARENESS
Over the course of eight distinct modules, the Staff Supervisory Awareness Program explores the fundamental tools and resources needed to effectively and successfully lead and supervise others. The program is structured in a blended format where participants complete parts of the training via live sessions and others through self-paced exercises. The course content encompasses a broad range of core human resources’ knowledge critical to your success as a supervisor. Participants are introduced to information that builds a foundation to become better champions of the core values of empathy, compassion, inclusion, dedication, impact and collaboration. Participants will also learn how to infuse diversity, equity and inclusion into their day-to-day activities as a supervisor at CMU. Ultimately, participants will be enabled with the information and skills to help them as supervisors to facilitate a work environment in which employees are treated with dignity and respect.

CIVIL TREATMENT FOR LEADERS
The Civil Treatment for Leaders (CTL) training provides leaders with the skills and insights they need to achieve positive business results and engage employees in ways that inspire their best work. Rather than focusing on the law exclusively, CTL focuses on a wide range of behaviors to offer a comprehensive learning solution.
based on realistic business simulations to spark new insights for leaders in how “doing what we’ve always done” is affecting results in ways they may not have considered. With simple and sustainable learning models and tools, leaders will develop skills proven to positively impact their workplace culture and business results. The Civil Treatment for Leaders (CTL) course leverages proven adult learning methodologies to provide a dynamic, diverse and experiential learning. This training program provides insight for leaders at every stage of their careers and at every level of the organization.

PERSONAL AND TEAM DEVELOPMENT COURSES, PROGRAMS, AND RESOURCES

TRUE COLORS
True Colors is a user-friendly temperament and personality typing program that has been helping people of all ages understand and recognize differences that can lead to miscommunication and conflict.

In the three-hour foundational session, certified facilitators from the HR Learning and Development team help participants:
- Learn about DiSC® and the Everything DiSC Workplace® Map
- Identify their styles and explore the priorities that drive them
- Discover similarities and differences among the DiSC styles
- Discover their reaction to different DiSC® styles
- Identify what works for and challenges them
- Use DiSC to understand the people they work with

Participation is available for interested teams at nominal cost ($72/person + $120 for a team report).

HARVARD’S PROJECT IMPLICIT BIAS TESTS
Project Implicit is a non-profit organization and international collaboration between researchers who are interested in implicit social cognition - thoughts and feelings outside of conscious awareness and control. The goal of the organization is to educate the public about hidden biases and to provide a “virtual laboratory” for collecting data on the Internet.

Project Implicit was founded in 1998 by three scientists – Tony Greenwald (University of Washington), Mahzarin Banaji (Harvard University), and Brian Nosek (Harvard University). Project Implicit Mental Health launched in 2011, led by Bethany Teachman (University of Virginia) and Matt Nock (Harvard University). Project Implicit also provides consulting services, lectures, and workshops on implicit bias, diversity and inclusion, leadership, applying science to practice, and innovation.

If you are interested in finding out more about these services, visit https://www.projectimplicit.net.

DISC
DiSC is an assessment tool based on the DiSC theory of psychologist William Moulton Marston, which centers on four different personality traits. This theory was developed into a behavioral assessment tool by industrial psychologist Walter Vernon Clarke.

In the three-hour foundational session, certified facilitators from the HR Learning and Development team help participants:
- Learn about DiSC® and the Everything DiSC Workplace® Map
- Identify their styles and explore the priorities that drive them
- Discover similarities and differences among the DiSC styles
- Discover their reaction to different DiSC® styles
- Identify what works for and challenges them
- Use DiSC to understand the people they work with

Participation is available for interested teams at nominal cost ($72/person + $120 for a team report).

STANFORD VMWARE WOMEN’S LEADERSHIP INNOVATION LAB
In partnership with the Software Engineering Institute (SEI), the Office of Human Resources is proud to introduce the Stanford VMware Women’s Leadership Innovation Lab. The ultimate goal of the lab is for Corporate Program members to leverage the tools developed to foster positive change within their organizations. It can be effective for Corporate Program members to customize the materials for use within their company (i.e., modify language or change scenarios to better align with their culture).

If you would like to take the concepts from the lab’s materials and customize them, please adhere to their published guidelines. Members of the CMU community can access the resources using the following credentials:
