

David L. Porges

David Porges is the retired Chairman and CEO of EQT Corporation, where he held those positions from 2010 through 2017. He now serves as a director of both for-profit (NextEra Energy) and not-for-profit (RAND Corporation, Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh and Pittsburgh Cultural Trust) Boards of Trustees/Directors. While at EQT, he served as Chief Financial Officer from the time he moved to Pittsburgh in 1998 until 2002, and then served in a variety of other senior executive positions before becoming CEO.

Prior to joining EQT, Mr. Porges was a Managing Director with Bankers Trust Corporation, working there for eleven years, in New York City and then in Houston. Prior to his time at Bankers Trust, Mr. Porges worked with Exxon Corporation for seven years, first with their Asian headquarters in Houston, and then with Esso Australia in Sydney and Melbourne.

A Chicago native, Mr. Porges holds a Master's degree in Business Administration from the Stanford University Graduate School of Business, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Engineering and Management Sciences from Northwestern University's McCormick School of Engineering and Applied Science (where he is now a member of the Advisory Council).
