

Byung Chul (B. C.) Lee (S'03-M'15) received the B.S. degree (Summa Cum Laude) from Korea University, Seoul, Korea, the M.S. degree from the Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology (KAIST), Daejeon, Korea, and the Ph.D degree from Stanford University, Stanford, CA, USA, all in electrical engineering, in 2003, 2005, and 2015, respectively.

He was a Research Scientist (2005 – 2016) in Center for BioMicrosystems at Korea Institute of Science and Technology (KIST), Seoul, Korea. He is now working as a Senior Research Scientist in the same center at KIST, Seoul, Korea. Also, he is now an assistant professor of Biomedical Engineering at University of Science and Technology (UST), Daejeon, Korea. His current research interests include MEMS/NEMS technology for diverse biomedical applications such as biosensors, micro- and nanofluidics, neural probes, and new micromachined ultrasonic transducers and systems for neuroscience.
