Carnegie Mellon Host Family Program students and host families came together to watch the exciting men’s and women’s basketball games in Skibo Gym on February 11, enjoying a pizza party between the games in the Student Athlete Lounge.

This academic year, 126 students are enrolled in the Host Family Program, the majority of them being Master’s degree students. Ninety-four host families are currently participating, drawn from Carnegie Mellon faculty, staff, participants in the Osher lifelong learning program, and other members of the Pittsburgh community.

The students watched a nail-biting end to the men’s game, which the Tartans won by two points. The opposing team scored at the 0.9 second mark, but it was ruled that the shot was made after regulation time ran out.
A special thanks to Josh Centor, Director of Athletics; Joan Maser, Coordinator of Athletics Support Services; and Pattye Stragar, Operations Manager who made this fun campus event possible!
