I am honored to join the Carnegie Mellon University community as the associate dean for parent and family engagement and first-year orientation. In this new role, I will be working with parents and family members to be a resource and advocate so you have the tools to be an informed supporter of your student.

An important outcome of the undergraduate university experience is for our students to develop the life skills necessary to successfully navigate their personal affairs and develop independence as young adults. As the family members of a CMU upper-class student, you have probably seen a lot of change and growth in your student over the past several years. We know that as family members, you will continue to play an important and supportive role in your student's life in college and beyond. I hope you'll continue to use this newsletter for information about your student's experience in order to spark meaningful conversations as they conclude their Carnegie Mellon journey.

I look forward to meeting many of you in person at future campus events. Until then, please don't hesitate to reach out if I can be of any assistance at julieschultz@cmu.edu or 412-268-2075.

Save the Date for Commencement Weekend: May 19-20, 2018

If you plan to attend this weekend, make your travel and hotel arrangements now. The University Registrar recommends arriving in Pittsburgh on Friday, May 18, as departmental ceremonies are held at different dates and times throughout the weekend. The larger university-wide Commencement is Sunday, May 20.

Spring Carnival & Reunion Weekend: April 19-21, 2018

With the theme of "Myths & Legends," the CMU tradition returns! Three days of events, concerts, food and fun for the entire CMU community.
