A VERY SPECIAL THANK YOU: Many people, departments and organizations inside and outside Carnegie Mellon University have come together to make Orientation 2018 a success. Some of these include the Dining staff, Chartwells, the Cohon Center staff, Facilities Management Services staff, Activities Board Technical Committee, Campus Police, Marketing & Communications and Media Tech Services. We extend our gratitude to everyone who gave guidance and support to the 2018 Head Orientation Staff. Our heartfelt thanks go to the Orientation Leaders, Orientation Counselors, Resident Assistants, Community Advisors and Housefellows — and especially to Program Directors Anne Witchner Levin, Julie Schultz and Gwen Stevens.

 Participate in the following events to learn about Carnegie Mellon and how to get involved:

IDEATe Information Session and Tour of Maker Facilities
2 – 2:50 p.m.
Hunt Library, Studio A, 106B

The IDEATe (Integrative Design, Arts and Technology) network provides interdisciplinary collaboration in which students experience learning and working in a diverse team of experts. IDEATe offers minors and courses in: Game Design, Animation & Special Effects, Media Design, Learning Media, Sound Design, Innovation & Entrepreneurship, Intelligent Environments and Physical Computing, all of which are open to all students. IDEATe Assistant Director Kelly Delaney (kellydel@andrew.cmu.edu) answers questions and gives a tour of the IDEATe maker facilities.

Mindfulness Room
Open House
2 – 3:50 p.m.
West Wing, 1st Floor

The Mindfulness Room at Carnegie Mellon allows students, faculty and staff to enjoy a relaxing break. Learn how to cultivate personal wellness and meet our weekly registered dogs for puppy love and relaxation. Refreshments served.

Participate in the Mobile Research Lab
2 – 3:50 p.m.
Schenley Plaza (across from the Cathedral of Learning on Forbes Avenue)

See Carnegie Mellon’s newest advancement in Economics, Psychology and Decision-Making research. Visit the Center for Behavioral and Decision Research’s 36-foot, 13-ton truck where experiments can be run anywhere in the city or the region. Take part in experiments that make headlines, and see how research is done at CMU.
Tartan Tuesday: O-Week Special Edition
2 – 3:50 p.m.
Wean Commons, Cohon Center
Every Tuesday throughout the academic year, when wearing CMU apparel — a.k.a. Tartan Tuesday — get rewarded with free candy and chances to win CMU swag and clothing. Stop by for a chance to win. This is the only week to get a chance to win without wearing CMU clothing!

Integrated Master’s Programs at the INI for SCS, ECE and IS Majors
2 – 2:50 p.m.
Mckenna Peter Wright Room, Cohon Center
Earn your B.S. and M.S. in 5 years and learn how to complete an M.S. in Information Networking or Information Security in 12 months. A list of undergraduate courses that can be taken to waive graduate requirements is provided and we discuss available scholarships. Stop by and get some INI swag!

Environment & Energy @CMU: Education, Research, Action!
2 – 2:50 p.m.
Danforth Conference Room, Cohon Center
This interactive conversation discusses integrating your passion for the environment into your academic journey through our new campus-wide minor in Environmental & Sustainability Studies. Learn about initiatives such as Sustainability Weekend, CMU Energy Week and the Environmental Colloquium organized by the Wilton E. Scott Institute for Energy Innovation and the Steinbrenner Institute for Environmental Education and Research in collaboration with student leaders. Share your passions, future interests and ideas for action while meeting an engaged group of faculty, staff and students committed to campus sustainability. Refreshments served.
The Swartz Center for Entrepreneurship Programs, Support and Incubation for Student Business Startups
2 – 2:50 p.m.
Studio Theater, Cohon Center
The Swartz Center offers a series of programs (Boot Camp, CONNECTs, Start Smart legal series, Innovation Scholars) for students who want to start a business venture while a student. Project Olympus is the startup incubator that provides advice, micro-grants, incubator space, connections and visibility. Learn how to get started.

First-Year Students Wanted: Undergraduate Research for Every Discipline
2 – 2:50 p.m.
McConomy Auditorium, Cohon Center
All CMU students are encouraged to participate in research and creative inquiry — as early as your freshman year. Learn about the Undergraduate Research Office (URO): Small Undergraduate Research Grants (SURG) or Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowships (SURF). Learn about the Fellowships and Scholarships Office (FSO) from Stephanie Wallach, director and Richelle Bernazzoli, assistant director, Office of Undergraduate Research and National Fellowships.

Explore the World! How Study Abroad Can Work for You
2 – 2:50 p.m.
Connan Room, Cohon Center
Over 500 CMU students study abroad annually. Students may study abroad for a semester, academic year or summer in countries around the world, including Carnegie Mellon’s campus in Doha, Qatar. Opportunities for short-term, non-credit study abroad experiences are also available. Chris Menand and Erin Swift, Study Abroad advisors in the Office of International Education, host the session. Former study abroad participants will be on hand to answer questions.
Designing your Involvement Experience with SLICE (Student Leadership, Involvement, and Civic Engagement)

2 – 2:50 p.m.
Rangos 3, Cohon Center

Research on CMU students shows that being involved is important for building a network, finding community and contributing to a sense of belonging on campus; students who are involved at Carnegie Mellon have a more satisfying college experience. Join the SLICE office to get the most out of campus events, activities and organizations.

First-Year FIT Tours
2:30 – 3:50 p.m.
Cohon Center Equipment Desk, across from Wiegand Gymnasium
(Tours will start every 30 minutes.)
Explore the workout spaces on campus and learn how to stay active. Attendees get a free gift.

Computational Biology Ice Cream Social
2:45 – 3:45 p.m.
Volleyball Court/Barbecue Area, 3rd Floor outside Gates-Hillman Rohr Café (rainsite: Gates-Hillman Collaborative Commons, 6th Floor)

Enjoy ice cream sundaes while learning about opportunities in computational biology, including the undergraduate program for SCS students and the additional major in computational biology for students in all colleges. Meet other undergraduates interested in computational biology as well as faculty and graduate students from the Computational Biology Department.
CMU Washington Semester Program Info Session
3 – 3:50 p.m.
Danforth Conference Room, Cohon Center
Undergraduates who value firsthand policy experience may apply to the Carnegie Mellon University Washington Semester Program, sponsored by the Institute for Politics and Strategy. Students live, work and study in Washington, D.C., coming into contact with political, business and community leaders while learning about pressing policy issues. Students earn 48 units while interning three days per week and taking classes in the afternoons and evenings. The Institute for Politics and Strategy sponsors events to enrich students’ experiences and enhance their understanding of how Washington functions as a hub of policy decision-making. Emily Half, ehalf@andrew.cmu.edu, IPS deputy director, presents information about CMU/WSP.

First-Year Students Wanted: Undergraduate Research for Every Discipline
3 – 3:45 p.m.
McConomy Auditorium, Cohon Center
See page 22 for full description.

Sushi and Spirituality
3 – 3:50 p.m.
Wright-Rogal Chapel, 1st Floor Cohon Center
Learn about opportunities to connect with various religious life and spirituality-focused groups on campus while making sushi! Our campus and Pittsburgh community have a wide variety of opportunities for students to find connections. Join members of CMU’s Council of Religious Advisors and CMU staff in a hands-on experience and conversation.
Lift Every Voice: A Conversation about Diversity and Inclusion at CMU

3 – 3:50 p.m.

Center for Student Diversity and Inclusion, Lower Level, Cohon Center

Inspired by the poem “Lift Every Voice and Sing” by James Weldon Johnson, this conversation is centered on community empowerment. Join student leaders who cultivate multicultural and diversity initiatives on campus for an interactive dialogue about social justice, diversity and inclusion. Tap into your experiences and resources to envision and create a more welcoming campus community. Learn about our upcoming Celebration of Diversity Weekends and other initiatives and how to get involved.

Solving Today’s Complex Problems – Interdisciplinary Undergraduate Programs in Engineering and Public Policy (EPP)

3 – 3:50 p.m.

Danforth Lounge, Cohon Center

Today’s complex problems in AI, energy and environmental systems, communication systems and technology innovation require expertise across disciplines to find effective solutions. The EPP undergraduate programs explore courses and research in areas where science, technology, society and policy intersect. We offer an additional major in Engineering and Public Policy (engineering students), an additional major in Science, Technology and Public Policy (Dietrich, MCS, SCS and TPR students), and a minor in Technology and Policy (all students). Learn about our programs and courses that bridge disciplines.
