

TARTANS ABROAD SCHOLARSHIP – GROUP TRIP DETAILS & APPLICATION
SHORT-TERM ORGANIZED INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL (STO-IT)

Tartans Abroad GROUP Scholarships are for recognized Carnegie Mellon undergraduate student groups to pursue short-term organized international travel (STO-IT) during academic break periods including the summer, winter break, and spring break.

Eligibility requirements for application and funding for the Tartans Abroad GROUP Scholarship:

- Funding will be available only for international group experiences during academic break periods including the summer, winter break and spring break.
- Group trips must be organized by a recognized Carnegie Mellon student organization or program with an Oracle String; therefore, short-term faculty-led programs are typically not considered under the Group Fund.
- A full roster (name, college, and year) of each student attending the group trip must be included in the application.
- The quality of the proposed project/experience abroad will influence award decisions and funds will not be awarded for independent, personal travel.
- Only complete applications will be considered. A complete application includes an application cover sheet, a complete trip roster, a detailed budget proposal (a template will be provided within the application), an essay, and one recommendation letter.
- ALL participants in the group trip must attend a Pre-Departure Orientation Session hosted by the Office of International Education and EACH individual student must complete ALL STO-IT pre-departure registration materials before departing campus. Scholarship funds will not be released until this requirement has been met.
- Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to sharing their overseas experience with the broader Carnegie Mellon community in a meaningful and educative manner. Each group that receives a Tartans Abroad Group Scholarship will be required to give a presentation (arranged in consultation with a study abroad advisor) shortly after their return to campus following the international experience.

Preference will be given to groups/students who:

- have not previously had a study or travel abroad experience
- have not previously received a Tartans Abroad Scholarship

To Note:

- OIE does not typically fund travel to countries where the US State Department has a Travel Warning in effect. In cases where the travel warning is location-specific within a country, the request will be reviewed by the University on a case by case basis.
- This cohesive Carnegie Mellon fund supports undergraduate student groups in pursuing short-term study abroad opportunities by streamlining the request and application process through the Office of International Education (OIE). Monetary support is provided by the Dean of Student Affairs, the Vice Provost for Education, Colleges, Academic Departments, and OIE.
