6:28 pm Discussion on suspending the bylaws

- * Secret ballot is unprofessional, and doesn't allow everyone to confirm the results

6:30 pm Move the question

6:33 pm Informal consideration on filling the Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson vacancy

6:44 pm Objection from Matt Rado and Tom Terracino on the vote to suspend the bylaws (Steven Kling)

6:47 pm Chair's Ruling: The vote on suspending the bylaws is invalid since members were physically kept, due to being excused by the Sergeant-at-arms, from a vote in which the matter did not directly involve their filling the vacancy. Therefore, we will go back to that motion.

6:47 pm Appeal of the Chair's Ruling (Daniel Papasian)

6:50 pm Vote on the Appeal of the Chair's Ruling

Fails, hand vote (6-12-2)

6:51 pm Discussion on suspending the bylaws

- * A secret ballot allows people to vote their true convictions

- * It makes the vote suspicious, and we are public officials and should be able to vote publicly.

6:59 pm Motion to divide the question (Steven Kling)

Passes, by unanimous consent

7:00 pm Discussion on suspending the bylaws to allow informal consideration

- * With informal discussion and without a secret ballot, there would be discussion and then after the discussion with call or move the question will go to vote and each candidate would have a up or down vote and the candidate with the most votes would win

- * Speaking rules still in force

7:03 pm Vote to suspend the bylaws to allow informal consideration

Passes, voice vote

7:03 pm Discussion on suspending the rules to allow a secret ballot

- * Senators should be held accountable for most things, but for internal elections you should only be held accountable to yourself, not the rest and the Tartan

7:05 pm Straw Poll (Wei Tang)

7:05 pm Discussion on suspend the bylaws to allow a secret ballot

- * This is not an issue of transparency, people don't find out the votes later anyway.

- * A secret ballot would allow more for making a preference if people like both candidates.

- * A secret ballot will remove the check that senators have to go against the vote.

7:17 pm Motion to move the question (Rebecca Nathan)

7:42 pm Discussion on electing Eleanor Zimmermann as a Member at large

7:42 pm Vote to elect Eleanor Zimmermann as a Member at large

Passes, voice vote

7:43 pm Points of Discussion

* AA secret ballot is a big issue from an ID perspective and the 2/3 vote shows the opinion of the senate. This was more a trial; since ID was not able to get this through their committee, because of how the bylaws force us to have the election now. This is an important issue that comes from how the last chairperson elections were.

* Room setup -- the body prefers the current u-shape setup

* BA now only has 2 senators, and we have many members at large that seem to not show up

* M@L list will be purged of all those not interested.

* We have 11 vacancies, but having people put in randomly might discourage them.
