M. S. Krishnan

Ross Business School, University of Michigan

Presentation

N=1 Personalization at Scale with AI

I will share some industry impact examples from some of my prior research related to software engineering and business value of technology investments. I will also share a couple of my current research projects on new business models that scale personalization with AI and link to the industry impact of this research.