Jennings Family Brave Companions Fund

Application Spring 2020
Scholarship Background

Carnegie Mellon University is proud to announce a new fund from Larry E. Jennings Jr. and Katherine Jennings to establish the Jennings Family Brave Companions Fund. The name and spirit behind the fund was drawn from the book, Brave Companions, written by Pittsburgh’s acclaimed writer, David McCollough. The stories included in the book are about forging ahead and finding success despite obstacles, naysayers and uncertainty.

Larry Jennings received his Bachelor of Science degree in mathematics and economics from the Mellon College of Science in 1984 and his master’s degree from the Tepper School of Business in 1987 where he concentrated in finance and strategy. Larry and Katherine have a strong sense of service and commitment to their community and have been active with, and supportive of, many community endeavors in Baltimore. Recently, Larry and his youngest daughter, June, returned from a trip to India inspiring him to create the Jennings Family Brave Companions Fund which provides students the opportunity to experience the culture and socio-economic issues facing a developing country and who otherwise might be unable to travel to such a destination due to personal financial constraints.

The donor’s primary goal in establishing this fund is to allow students to travel to developing countries during their summer breaks, to study, travel, conduct research, and/or participate in service work.

Eligibility Requirements

- Undergraduate sophomore or junior
- Open to all majors
- U.S. citizen or permanent resident
- Full-time student status for two terms
- Baccalaureate degree in progress
- GPA of not less than 2.5
- Will return to Carnegie Mellon as a full time student in the fall semester following the summer abroad experience
- Travel to an underdeveloped country

Preference is given to students with ONE or more of the following:

- Students who have overcome obstacles such as socioeconomic or educational disadvantage or disabilities
- Students who have demonstrated a commitment to the advancement of groups that are historically underrepresented at the University, including African Americans, Native Americans or Hispanics Students who are the first generation in their family to attend college
- Students with demonstrated financial need
- Students who have not previously had a study or travel abroad experience
- Students who are interested in traveling to a developing country
Brave Companions’ Core Components

Locating TWO choices for a summer abroad opportunity, starting no later than January:

A. Meet with Chris Menand (cmenand@andrew.cmu.edu) or Erin Swift (eswift@andrew.cmu.edu) of the Office of International Education (OIE)
B. Find study/travel abroad programs
C. Apply to study/travel abroad programs

• Abroad experience of at least 4 weeks (28 days or more) in the summer after sophomore or junior year.
• Awardees submit a preliminary Small Undergraduate Research Grant (SURG) outline (www.cmu.edu/uro) and meet by April 1 with Stephanie Wallach, Assistant Vice Provost (sw4s@andrew.cmu.edu); a final SURG is submitted in Fall, upon return
• Awardees must attend a Pre-Departure Orientation Session hosted by the Office of International Education and complete ALL pre-departure registration materials before departing campus. Scholarship funds will not be released until this requirement has been met.
• Awardees complete a study abroad based research project by Spring semester 2021
• Awardees present at the annual research symposium, Meeting of the Minds, May 2021
• Awardees submit a detailed Experience Report/Blog by October 1 by email (including pictures, reflections of the experience and descriptions), submitted to the URO, Cyert Hall A64 to be shared with the donor and other students and faculty
• Awardees participate in various events sponsored by the Office of International Education (OIE) and the Undergraduate Research Office (URO)
• Awardees sign a Letter of Agreement and submit it to the URO, A64 Cyert Hall

Please include a PERSONAL STATEMENT of up to 1000 words describing your background, family, and education. The purpose of this statement is to introduce yourself to the reader in ways that go beyond a resume or transcript. It is a narrative that personalizes the application. It is an opportunity to talk about your background, your family, your hobbies, your athletics, and/or other interests. Be sure to let the committee know the various reasons why you want to go abroad and why you chose these particular locations and programs.

Make certain to proofread for grammar, spelling, punctuation, and clarity of expression.
